

Interested in doing research at Arctic and northern
research stations?

Learn more at INTERACT TA User Community meeting
Tue 25th April, 10:30-12:00, room 0.16

Apply INTERACT Transnational Access to conduct research at the coolest places of the North!

www.eu-interact.org

INTERACT at EGU2017

Transnational Access User Community Meeting

Tue 25th April at 10:30-12:00, Room 0.16

Opening and welcome

10:30-11:00 INTERACT and Transnational Access –multiple opportunities for research in the Arctic and northern research stations. Hannele Savela, Thule Institute, University of Oulu, Finland

INTERACT Transnational Access Project and Station highlights

11:00-11:10 Studying polar lakes with support from INTERACT Transnational Access at Kilpisjärvi Biological Station in Finland. Georgiy Kirillin, Leibniz-Institute of Freshwater Ecology and Inland Fisheries, Berlin, Germany

11:10-11:20 Glaciological research with support from INTERACT Transnational Access at Tarfala Research Station in Sweden. Mark Smith, School of Geography, University of Leeds, UK

11:20-11:30 Litter decomposition study with support from INTERACT Remote Access at Arctic Station in Greenland and Khibiny Scientific and Educational Station in Russia. Ika Djukic, Environment Agency Austria

11:30-11:40 Research facilities and possibilities at the Sonnblick Observatory in Austria. Annett Bartsch, Zentralanstalt für Meteorologie und Geodynamik and Austrian Polar Research Institute

11:40-11:50 Synergies of INTERACT with ESA GlobPermafrost activities. Annett Bartsch, Zentralanstalt für Meteorologie und Geodynamik and Austrian Polar Research Institute

Closing and next steps

11:50-12:00 Questions and Discussion. Next INTERACT TA Call.

Welcome!